

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A target processor performance level is calculated from a utilisation history of a processor in performance of a plurality of processing tasks. The method comprises 5 calculating a task work value indicating processor utilisation in performing a given processing task within a predetermined task time-interval and calculating a target processor performance level in dependence upon the task work value.

10 [Figure 1]